

THE DAILY BULLETIN
FRIDAY EVE., AUGUST 1, 1884.

John E. Cooper was nominated by the Hazel Green Convention to succeed Judge Robert Riddell.

Hos. W. W. CULBERTSON at last accounts was still alive, and his physicians entertain hope of his recovery.

EVERY Democrat should come to the from on Monday and vote for Judge Riddell. Every vote will be needed.

The grangers of Brown County, Ohio, expect to hold their annual fair this season near Red Oak Postoffice, on the 15th day of October.

REMEMBER that the vote for Riddell in this county will be the basis of representation in the convention. See, therefore, that it is a full one.

COLONEL HOLT is a straight out Republican, who never scratches his ticket. If any Democrat votes for him, he will do so with his eyes open. He voted for a negro, in preference to a white man, for Register of the Land Office, because the negro was a Republican and the white man a Democrat.

For many years the increase of population of the United States in time of peace has been almost precisely two percent, yearly from excess of births over deaths, beside the excess of persons coming in to the country over those going out. According to this manner of reckoning the population to-day will be about fifty-seven millions. In two years more it will probably exceed sixty millions.

Should a man known to be a keeper of mistresses, a seducer of innocents, the father of numerous bastards, be nominated for office by the Democratic party or district, the voters would not only not regard the proof of all this as any Democratic would, but would assent with the greatest veneration to those who made it, and the gravity of a refusal to accept him.

The BULLETIN, in its time, has supported many men for office in this county and in this district, but it is not aware that it has ever at any time given aid or encouragement to "a seducer of innocence, the father of numerous bastards, etc," and in making such a charge the Eagle is not acting consistently with its boasted reputation for candor. Until it furnishes proofs the statement must be flatly and sharply contradicted, which we do.

SHOULD a man be nominated whom the editor of the BULLETIN believes, to be a forger, perjurer and felon, and the editor of the Eagle all the same, the editor of the Eagle for him all the same, and those who believe himself to be true—Eagle.

Again the Eagle is not candid. The "forger, perjurer and felon" referred to above is supposed to mean Thomas F. Hargis, and the paragraph is simply the stereotyped expression of the editor's disappointment over his failure in the courts at Louisville, in his suit with Hangs. Although it is the first time the editor of the BULLETIN has been honored with its application, it has been printed so often in connection with other persons and things it has become monotonous and nauseating. We beg leave to inform our contemporaries that in charge in this instance also, is not sustained, and as proof we refer it to the records of the Louisville court.

A BUFFALO newspaper makes a foul assault on the character of Governor Cleveland, accusations of violence and yet in this city where his character is best known he has been nominated for re-election. The date for Sheriff, Mayor and Governor. This is a sufficient answer.—BULLETIN.

It is a sufficient refutation of the slander to all people except Mr. Cleveland's enemies. The people of Buffalo knew his real character and gave him in his various candidacies, as stated above, their overwhelming support. And this statement is backed by the fact that Mr. Cleveland has sued for libel the Buffalo newspaper that first printed the scandalous lies concerning his private character. If charges of immorality had been made against Mr. Blaine, the editor of the Eagle would probably have rushed to his defense, as he has to Colonel Holt, when he knew the charges against the latter have been fully sustained, and shown to be worse than stated, by the evidence of some of the best men in Montgomery County. With the Eagle what is insufficient in the case of Cleveland would probably have been more than sufficient in the case of Blaine.

Unstable On His Plugs.

From the Helena (Mont.) Independent.

Ben Butler's two-legged stool does not stand steady. He wants one more nomination.

More Funny Business.

From the Boston Post.

No wonder the Republicans cry out "give us no more funny business."

When the illustrated papers of the country have been so busy they could not get funny business enough. Now all is changed, and of all the illustrated journals of the day the only supporters of the Republican ticket are the Judge and the Hatchet. Very appropriate this. But then Mr. Justice may have his little Hatchet, and though the Judge may be on his side, we are firmly of the belief that the jury will be against him.

$10 FOR A LIFE.
A Series of Trials With a Singular Ending.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31.—Several instances of trials with a singular ending have occurred here in this city, while in the interior of the state, and in Kentucky, a woman named Fannie of Paducah, a search in search of moonshines near Horse Cave, Hart County. Wyntt has always claimed that the shooting was accidental, although he is innocent and has had several trials, and in each he has been exonerated. A new trial was granted. The Tompkinsville correspondent of the Bowling Green Gazette says:

"The Commonwealth again claims Edgar Wyntt for killing young Pfanzl near Horse Cave, several years ago, resulting in a fine $10.00. Being unable to pay so large a fine he has been sent to prison. Those who know him well say he is innocent. He intended to kill Pfanzl, and believe his shot was that the shooting was accidental. Edgar Wyntt is a brother to the noted revenue officer, John Wyntt, who, after a long and eventful career, died recently in New York, at the hands of a city policeman, while apprehending arrest for a misdeemeanor. He has also a brother, Jesse Wyntt, who is an efficient lieutenant of police in Louisville."

THE LOST OSBORN.

Said that only Three, and Not Eight, Persons were Informed.

CLEVELAND, O., July 31.—Captain William, of the propeller Osborn, which was sunk in a collision with the steamship Albany on White Fish Point, Michigan, on Sunday night, was arrested in this city and charged with the owners of the vessel. At the office of H. J. Webb & Co. he declined to say anything concerning the disaster, but from a member of the firm it was learned that the vessel had been damaged severely and irreparably. Only three men were killed instead of eight, as hitherto reported. Fireman Conners was a resident of Cleveland, aged fifty. One of the deck hands lost was Thomas, a boy from the village of Unionport, to Cleveland. The other deck hand was known on board the propeller as "Tom." The Alberts has not yet been heard from but is known to be seriously damaged, and her progress toward Detroit is probably much impeded. Her arrival at Detroit is due to the arrival of the Alberts.

H. W. HOMERSON, of Glen Easton, West Virginia, a prominent merchant and pretty bad man, is trying to break his wife's heart. In April he left her, lost himself in Cincinnati, waited until she paid seven dollars on every dollar of his indebtedness, went back, begged her forgiveness, and now lives away with a beautiful, accomplished sister-in-law.

Tax following letter was received this morning by Captain E. W. Fitzgerald, of the Emmett Rifles:

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 29, 1884.

Captain Fitzgerald desires that the members of the company shall meet at the armory to-night, at half-past seven o'clock, and that every officer and private shall be present.

Camp Meeting.

The Ringer Camp Meeting began at 8 p.m. on Friday 30th, followed by a service on Saturday, on Cor. 15-17. The sermon was said to be good and the size of the congregation encouraging. Thursday, July 31st, there was an experience and prayer meeting at 9 a.m. Rev. John R. Eads preached at 10:30 from 1 Cor. 1. The services were continued until 3 p.m., from Matt. 16: 24. He was followed by Rev. Thomas Harrison in a service of prayer, song and exhortations. There was deep spiritual feeling among the people during these exercises. There were many conversions. Rev. C. John R. Eads, A. Boering, C. J. Howe, Thomas G. Bosley, C. F. Oney, H. C. Northcott, D. W. Tracy, and Rev. E. C. Pollard came at 5 p.m. Rev. Thomas Harrison arrived at 12 m., and Rev. E. C. Pollard at 1 p.m. Rev. Thomas Harrison had doubted his coming, some had said that the advertisement of his coming was a trick of the board to draw a crowd. His appearance satisfied friends and disablers. There were many conversions. Many had come from Indiana. Men had come from Kentucky. Many had come from Ohio. Some new ones by private parties have been erected. At 8 p.m., Rev. Thomas Harrison preached a very pungent and searching discourse from Proverbs 14: 14. "The back-sider is a fool, and the back-biter is a rascal, and a good man shall be satisfied from himself." The audience was large and deeply serious. The services closed with an altar exercise, which showed that God's people are waking up to the great importance of this camp meeting.

THE Philadelphia Times says of Blaine's speech: "It is an appeal for a continuation of high taxes, superfluous revenue, extravagance, and a new lease of power for the spoilsmen and the public plunder."

Editor.—Every word of the above mentioned from the BULLETIN is true. We have an illustration right at home. For years when the distilleries at this place were in full operation running all day and often far into the night, one storekeeper after another would be sent to the distilleries to see where the distilleries are not running at all, two storekeepers would be sent to watch each warehouse, besides an extra or "General" storekeeper whose duties are not apparent, making seven at least at a cost to the people of twenty-eight dollars per day.

The same recklessness, extravagant expenditure exists in every department of the Federal administration and every dollar of it comes from the hard earnings of the people. That is the fact if based on the clear understanding of each and every citizen will have more effect in determining his vote than all the windy campaign speeches that can be delivered.

THE FLOODS IN THE EAST

Entire Families Swept Away and No Traces Left.

The Potomac Valley a Scene of Wreckage from End to End—Fifteen Dead Bodies Found—The Worst to Come.

WESTERNPORT, Md., July 31.—Advice from up the Georges Creek valley confirm the reports of yesterday's disasters. The flood is a scene of wrecks and death and carnage. At least fifty houses are gone. Two unknown bodies have been found near Barton. These but make it more certain that when the floods subside many more will be found. A house occupied by a married couple, Isenberg and his family of six persons is gone, and the trace left of either people or house.

It is now known that fifteen persons are dead. How many more cannot be guessed. Houses left to protect themselves every hour, and it is now assessed at $200,000.

The loss to mines will cause a delay that will prove serious to the workmen, to producers, and to consumers.

The Potomac is rising rapidly and it is said raining in the mountains. Damage is also reported along Cheat River.

The railroad is damaged more than was at first thought.

A woman's body, torn almost to pieces by the rocks, was taken from the creek near Laurel Run; the clothes having been torn off. It is supposed that she came from near Ligonier. The face is so badly mangled as to be unrecognizable.

A trunk containing a gold watch and other jewelry was taken from the water below Piedmont.

The river is protracted the whole length of the valley. It is feared that many people will suffer for food and clothing. Citizens of Piedmont will take measures to assist deserving parties.

LOST IN THE DESERT.

A Note Telling of the Survival of Six Young Men.

OMAHA, July 31.—George Hughes, of Columbus, Nebraska, reports the finding at that place of a boat washed down in the recent flood in the Platte River, which contained a number of men who had been lost. The boat was driven by a party of cowboys on the great trail northward of Ft. Laramie. It was given to the editor of the Columbus Journal, who will forward it as requested. It reads as follows:

"HEAD OF NORTH FORT OF PLATTE RIVER, NEB.—July 29.—I have just found what will do a kind deed by having it sent and published in the Harlan Bulletin, published in Harlan, Iowa. I have just received word from my son that he and his party of us are camped on the great desert, starving to death, having nothing to eat but dried horse meat. They are all emaciated and exhausted. We have got away. Thank God, we have plenty of water, but nothing else. We are all lying with mountain fever, and never expect to live. We have no horses to walk, and one day more will be our last unless rescued. Oh, it is terrible to die this way, but we must. We have no money, and we can't live much longer. Good-bye to this world; be sure to have this published as stated."

FRANK HARDIN,
"Fort Laramie, Wyo."

The paper was greasy, and the note miserably stained, but it was almost impossible to decipher it. Nothing had been heard from Hardin and his party at Laramie of Cheyenne and the impression prevails that they are all dead.
